

SCIENCE FICTION FANTASY

About me....

Author Robin G. Howard

Fifty years ago while sleeping I came out of the body to witness a future event. Even now, I still feel amazed and enthralled by this beautiful, strange occurrence. There have been several other incidents in my life equally intriguing but non-as avid.

As I write, I find myself in thought exploring the universe and all the worlds that are out there. Many would say I was using imaginative thinking and this may be so but I realise there are possibly other explanations. Science fiction fantasy writers of the past in their creative thoughts putting pen to paper have visualised future possibilities including this technological age we now witness. Many of these items of futuristic thinking have been proven and documented. Star Trek, Star Wars has revolutionised what the future events could be in the near infinity of space travel and is classified as science fiction. Soon, many of the craft, weapons and technology will exist.

The exploration of our solar system has been achieved by robotic automation and now ready for the human element. The thoughts of the writers of today will revolutionise scientists to produce these items for future generations to come. In this age of technological discovery, great medical revelations are unfolding.

The writers fantasy aspects of thought patterns leads in another direction that science is slowly discovering. A century ago clairvoyants ministered séances in darkened rooms and many classed as cheats and charlatans. Today we explore the metaphysical in the knowledge that each quantum incident is individually unique. The human body and mind are as of yet undeveloped in their evolution and after the technological age, there will come the era of spirituality offering the existence of the multiverse and the quantum source of superposition. Mathematics is the language of creation and when the two join, they become divine in nature. The future will be determined and revealed by the mathematics of divinity. I write using science fiction and a human crew of an advanced civilisation that can journey to both the ethereal and physical worlds. A future event I know will happen.

As a keen reader of comic books in my school and teen years, I am overjoyed to see these characters now come alive in the cinema. The collected snobbery of the elite book reviewers of the time dismissed these stories and characters as the hack. It is now wonderful to see that now hack has taken over the cinema. All these ideas and stories originated from the minds of men and women the same fruitful source as the holy books of today, but men alone wrote the holy books. Is it not strange that these elitist reviewers of the written word do not name the holy books as hack novels? All these characters and ideas conceived in the past, some in the ancient past. They have come to the fore because of the rich imaginative content that the human mind needs in contrast to the mundane tasks of an ordinary citizen's life.

GOD IS OBSOLETE !!!!!

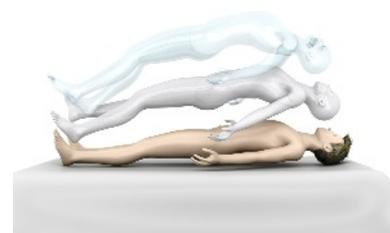

Everything that appears in written form is from the machinations of human minds. Is it not true that unless it is a known undisputed fact, then the author is channelling the quantum essence of the brain named as the transcendent, psychic or supernatural mind? Does God exist? We do not know. Does Superman live? We do not know. Many archaic facts are fragmented and written years after its events. Even in the last two centuries, the human mind conjures information and changes the factual. The line between fictionality and reality is narrow as humankind distorts the difference between the real and unreal. Introducing the sense of logic whether Superman is a fact comes into question. However, the question of does God exist still cannot be answered with a yes or no. Both these scenarios offer the same creation from the minds of men, big super powers. The exception is that God in dictionary terms does not qualify benevolent or malevolent. Therefore, we could all be worshipping a malignant supernatural entity.

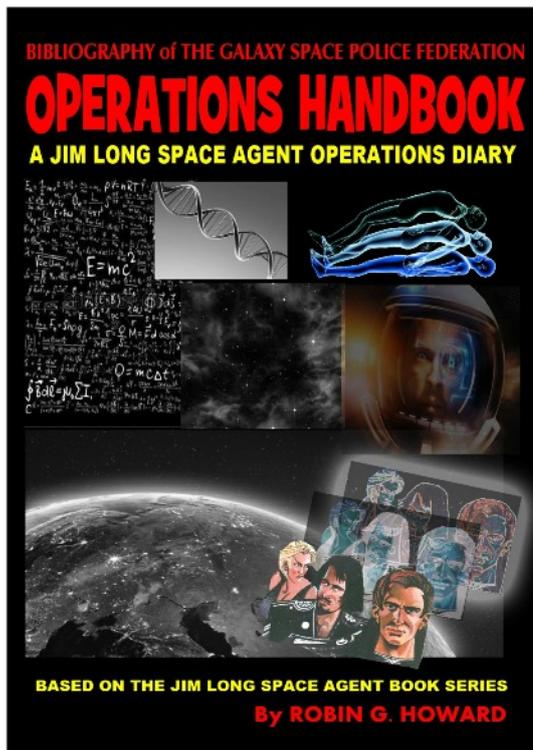

GOD IS NOW - THE SUPREME DIVINE SOURCE

In the previous paragraph, just a fraction of the complexity explored between the physical and metaphysical worlds. We are in one reality, and part of our brain is in another. That is a fact to me because of my earlier future encounter but not to anyone else. Every person has his or her individual reminiscences that conclude fact. The difference between physical and ethereal is vast and communication difficult. The two languages are separated, one of the words and one of the feelings. It is a tremendous challenge of interpretation like solving a spiritual metaphor. Sometimes you are not viewing a picture but the framework of the picture filling your mind. You cannot see people but you know they are there. You do not see lips moving, but you can hear the voices and know who is speaking. The framework of where you are is in your mind. Once again, it's hard to explain in words. Therefore, when you see a superhero on the screen just remember if you believe in the word God then that hero could exist in an alternate reality.
